

BIOLOGY COLLOQUIUM

Fall Semester 2008 Neils Science Center Room 224 View a campus map

Refreshments at 3:55 PM ; Presentations begin at 4:10 PM Help us conserve resources -- Bring your own cup!

September 8, 2008

“Gastrulation: What and How”

Dr. Grayson Davis
Department of Biology
Valparaiso University

“Genetic and Environmental Suppression of Hyperbranching in Neurospora crassa”

Dr. Michael Watters
Department of Biology
Valparaiso University

September 22, 2008

Student summer research presentations

October 13, 2008

“A role for biologists in the controversy surrounding the teaching of evolution.”

Dr. Nancy Peleaz
Department of Biological Sciences
Purdue University

October 27, 2008

“Bless You! The interdisciplinary science between allergies and cholesterol.” Department of Biology - Valparaiso University

Dr. Adam Hammond

Director: University of Chicago Biophysical Sciences Program

Cofounder: Gendyne Therapeutics, Inc

November 10, 2008

“Genetics of Adaptation: From model organisms to model ecosystems”

Dr. Justin Borovitz,

Department of Ecology and Evolution

University of Chicago

December 8, 2008

“The potential for hybridization between invasive and native bittersweets: Celastrus orbiculatus and C. scandens.”

Dr. Noel B. Pavlovic

US Geological Survey

Great Lakes Science Center

The PDF Footer